DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The applicant's amendment filed on 7/30/2007 has been fully considered and made of record.
2. Claims 7-9 are cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-3 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brouwer (US 5,735,388).

As applied to claim 1, Brouwer teaches a roller shaft 240 (see figure 3 and center of roller in figure 4), a roller body 120 (figure 4) connected to the outer periphery of the roller shaft, the roller body having a circumferential outer surface, and a grit layer 100 comprising a plurality of individual grit particles deposited on the roller body outer surface wherein the grit particles 102 are each composed of electrically conductive material such as aluminum or aluminum alloy (aluminum oxide & zirconia alumina, col. 5, lines 22-26).

Regarding the limitations pertaining to "a thermal spray process", the patentability of product does not depend on its method of production. In re Thorpe, 777

Art Unit: 3726

F.2d 695,697, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citing In re Pilkington, 411 F.2d 1345, 1348, 162 USPQ 145, 147 (CCPA 1969)). If a product in a product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product in the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product is made by a different process. Id. citing In re Marosi, 710 F.2d 799, 803, 218 USPQ 289, 292-93 (Fed. Cir. 1983); Johnson & Johnson v. W.L. Gore, 436 F. Supp. 704, 726, 195 USPQ 487, 506 (D. Del. 1977); see also In re Fessman, 489 F.2d 742, 744, 180 USPQ 324, 326 (CCPA 1974).

Regarding claims 2-3, the roller shaft has a columnar-shape and the roller body is integrally formed with the roller shaft and fixedly mounted to the roller shaft outer periphery.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 7/2/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant mainly argues (page 1, Remarks as filed 7/2/2007) that by incorporating the limitations of previously dependent claims 7 and 8 into amended claim 1 whereas the grit particles are selected from a group of the electrically conductive materials would overcome the art of record and further argues that "Brouwer patent does not disclose the use of such electrically conductive materials as grit particles. Since the Brouwer patent does not disclose each and every element recited in claim 1, the rejection must be withdrawn."

The Examiner respectfully disagrees with the above arguments. Note that as stated in the office action mailed on 1/23/2007, claims 1-3 and 7-9 were rejected under 35 USC 102(b) as being anticipated by Brouwer wherein Brouwer explicitly teaches the grit particle made from an electrically conductive material including aluminum.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
